Phone Skills and the Phone Shopper Program

No matter how successful your marketing is at getting the phone to ring, if prospects aren't being converted over the phone, you are wasting your money.

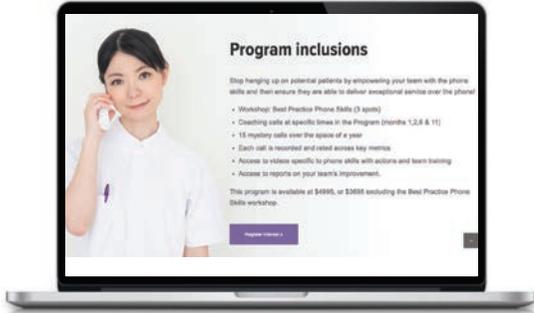

Being at the dental front desk is a huge challenge. Your front office team are balancing patients, the daily schedule and the needs of the hygienist and dentist – while also talking to people on the phone.

Often it is the phone calls that get the least focus and attention. This is because they are unscheduled, happen often and can be seen as an unwelcome interruption to a busy day. Without training, it is easy to forget the potential value each of these calls represents.

Maximise the conversions from first phone calls to new patients by training your team on excellent phone service; and ensure they are accountable, committed and constantly improving using our Phone Shopper Program.
