Domaine de la Raimbauderie

Roger & Didier Raimbault have been growing grapes in Sancerre for ten generations. Experience, technical savoir-faire and nature combined allow them to produce wines of great quality, respecting the typical characteristics of each vintage. The estate is located in Verdigny in the heart of Sancerre with two vineyards, Les Terres Blanches and Les Caillottes. The two grape varieties that are used in Sancerre are Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Noir. The white wines are fresh, fruity and elegant, the rosés are delicate and subtle and the reds are perfumed and smooth.

“When nature gives you a treasure, please respect and share it”.

Domaine Leduc Frouin

The domain LEDUC-FROUIN is managed by Nathalie and Antoine Leduc, 4th generation of winemakers on the family estate. Antoine was always destined to work on the family estate. He returned there in 1993 after doing his studies in oenology at Avize, Dijon and Bordeaux. Nathalie joined him in 2000 after 10 years in the banking sector in another viticulture region. Before them these were their parents, grandparents, great grandparents who were fighting for and developing the importance of the vineyard la Seigneurie.

The family LEDUC-FROUIN has had the vineyard since 1873. Combining tradition and modernity, Antoine and Nathalie make every effort to offer you typical local wines, subtle and surprising. Passionate and strong in our experiments, we work rigorously with our vineyard of 30 hectares and practice manual harvests.

The diversity of our soils (falun, shale, clay) allows us to perform divided into parcels winemaking that every year reveals the character of the wines la “Seigneurie”! Wishing to preserve the heritage that has been entrusted to us, we work in the dimension of the sustainable agriculture “Terra Vitis”

Pierre & Bertrand Couly

Pierre and Bertrand Couly work around 20 hectares in the Chinon appellation. They are from a long line of wine producers going back to the 15th century on the maternal side of Bertrand's family (Farou). Pierre and Bertrand Couly have chosen to turn towards a sustainable viticulture. They have received the label HVE (Haute Valeur Environnementale) for their cultivation choices by allowing the preservation of biodiversity. Pierre and Bertrand Couly aim to present you the variations of the terroirs of the appellation throughout the different vintages that they produce each year.

Domaine David Givaudan

David, started Domaine Givaudan in 2001 when he purchased 20 hectares of vineyards around the village of Cavillargues specializing in Côtes du Rhône and “Vin de Pays” appellations. He has chosen to acquire vigorous vineyards with very specific terroirs (clay & limestone), and generous sun exposure producing grapes rich in aromas and texture. David is a sustainable farmer whom likes to blend traditional and modern winemaking techniques. We are very pleased to bring you the wines of a young, talented and promising winemaker.

La Bête is translated as “The Beast”, wild and magnificent, expressing the tradition of the Rhône Valley. Subtle nose of fresh berries, violets, black olives, liquorice with a hint of spices. Very round and balanced on the palate with great texture. This is Killer Wine! Sustainable Farming.

Domaine De L’Espigouette

Domaine de l’ Espigouette is now run by Bernard Latour, his wife and two sons, Julian and Emilien. They carefully work the vineyard according to the climatic characteristics of vintage and different terroirs. The diversity of the soil allows for complexity to the different wines of this area, the hills provide rich, bold wines, while sandy, clay soils provide elegance, finesse and depth. The vines have an average age of 45 years old. The family works in the vineyards and select the grapes for maximum ripeness and concentration when harvested mechanically then carefully sorted before entering the winery.

Located in the South of France, in the southern area of Châteauneuf du Pape, the Domaine de la Roncière was founded by Luis Canto in 1959. His son Jean-Louis Canto took over in 1979 and since 2002 has extended the estate with the help of his son Geoffrey.

The vineyard “Châteauneuf du Pape” is composed of 11 ha distributed out of 15 different lots located on places called la Font du Loup (sandy ground), Armeniers and Serres (stony grounds). Grenache is dominating there (80 %), complemented by Syrah and Mourvèdre. The choice of varieties was determined over the centuries according to the climatic conditions (heat, dryness, wind) and according to the soils (stony, sandy, with rolled stones).

Domaine de L'Abbaye

Domaine de l'Abbaye, surrounded by terraces, was once connected to the Abbey of Thoronet. At that time, the monks were cultivating the land that now belongs to Frank Petit. In 1990 this Cuvée was the first to be rated 3 stars by the Guide Hachette in France. The grapes are picked by hand to keep them as fresh as possible. Boxes of 15kg of grapes are brought to the cellar and then, their contents are spread on large sorting tables. The selection of the UV protectant blue bottle highlights Franc Petit's uncompromising dedication to high quality rosé

Chateau Saint Martin de La Garrigue

The estate, located at Montagnac in the Hérault département about ten kilometres inland from the Mediterranean, stands on top of a hill overlooking the Thau coastal lagoon. The vines grow on slopes facing the sea and thus benefit from maritime breezes that carry in moisture to counter the effect of summer drought. Spring frosts are rare, the mild temperatures favour good ripening of the grapes. The vines themselves are protected from the prevailing north and north-westerly winds (known locally as the cers and tramontane) which on occasion are violent enough to damage immature canes. The fifty plots that make up the estate vineyards stand around the château in a typically Mediterranean environment. The smell of the pine woods intermingles with the pungent aromas of evergreen oak, almond, olive, thyme, rosemary and downy cistus that dominate the surrounding Mediterranean Garrigue.

Château Desmirail

Château Desmirail, located in Cantenac near Margaux, was founded at the end of the 17th century by Jean Desmirail. His descendants stayed the owners until the middle of the 19th century. At the time of its classification as 3ème Grand Cru Classé in 1855, the owner was Mr Sipièrre, known as well as the manager of Château Margaux.

Lucien Lurton becomes the owner of Desmirail in 1981 and his son Denis continues the search for quality and tradition of this great Margaux estate since 1992.

Château Bouscalt

The Bouscalt vineyards have existed since the 17th century on the commune of Cadaujac, within the Graves appellation. Called Haut Truchon, it was renamed Château Bouscalt in 1929 after the locally given name. The wines of Château Bouscalt were recognized and consecrated in 1953, when it was awarded the envied status of Graves Cru Classé, for both its white and red wine.

Bouscalt was then acquired in 1979 by Lucien Lurton, a well known Bordeaux winemaker who already owned at least ten other prestigious châteaux in appellations such as Margaux (Brane-Cantenac) and Barsac (Climens).

Today the fourth generation, Sophie Lurton, Lucien's daughter, is in charge. She inherited the estate in 1992, and Laurent Cogombles, her husband, an ENITA graduate, has been very involved with Bouscalt since 1998. Apart from this activity, Laurent is also very actively involved in the wine trade bodies, like the 'interprofession' and is the president of the appellation Pessac-Léognan.

Château Croze de Pys

This Domaine was created in 1773, but in 1877, Auguste Roche saw all his vines completely destroyed by phylloxera. His son Ernest, decided to replant the Côt grape grafted onto an American rootstock resistant to parasites. Côt is the original name of Malbec but agronomist, Michel Pouget whom also introduced this varietal to Argentina changed the name to Malbec, originally a nickname for “Bad Beak” as tasting this inky juice will turn your mouth, teeth and lips black. Jean decided in 1987 to continue the work of his ancestors and develop Chateau Croze de Pys with a modern approach to a very traditional and balanced wine rather than the black tannic wines of yesteryear.

The terroir of Château Croze Pys is characterized by ancient alluvium of the valley turned by the Lot River. They are made of quartz pebbles and ferruginous sand mixed with clay but mostly silica, which has great influence on the fineness of the wine. Within the years, this has formed terraces, always well drained and mostly south-facing slopes. Committed to QUALENVI Organic Certification Process since 2002

Weingut Weixelbaum

Kamptal boasts a variety of terroir, ranging from loess over gravel to striking parcels of primary rock and even volcanic elements. A hot and dry microclimate, the soil is geologically spectacular, as it originates from 270 million year old Permian Period, being a desert-like sandstone base with volcanic particles. The region has long sloping vineyards as well as steep slopes that are terraced such as the Gaisberg single vineyard.

Protection of nature starts with the green manuring of the vineyards. The result of this sowing is a blossoming of senfdotters, phacelia, fennel, various kinds of clover and other plants. The objective is the holistic cultivation of the vineyard and of its soil, so to ensure and sustain the high quality of the grapes.

Weingut FJ Gritsch

Dating back to the 13th century the Mauritiushof was originally used by monks to collect the grapes.

Since 1799 the building has belonged to the Gritsch family who started the tradition of wine pressing. Today this heritage stands as a commitment for the future to cultivate this tradition. Our wines are synonymous with the unique soil and microclimate of each individual vinyard. These special qualities yield great wines that are based not only on the traditional craftsmanship, but also on the unique philosophie of our family.

Weingut Schneider

Schneider Winery has put its focus on the red grape varieties of the burgundy family the international Pinot Noir and the autochthonous Saint Laurent. This specialization originates in the excellent growing conditions that mirror a close working dialogue with the continental climate, the gravelly soils, skills and passion of the individual vintners. Top ratings at renowned tastings have proven that our burgundy wines count among top qualities not in Austria alone. Tattendorf has been known as an “isle of red wine” in the Austrian wine region Thermenregion. About 80% of the production are dominated by red wine. The reason for this specialization is on the one hand the continental climate and on the other hand the type of soil in this region. Strolling through the vineyards, you’ll appreciate that the soil is dominated by gravel and chalk. This is one of the fundamentals for the evolution of our vines and has a major influence on the character of our wines.

Weingut K+K Kirnbauer

Situated in Deutschkreutz, the most important village in Mittelburgenland. Right on the border with Hungary, this is Blaufränkischland! Protected by three ranges of hills to the west with heavy deep clay soils. The region has a 2700 year winemaking tradition. The Kirnbauer family has over 400 years of tradition in Deutschkreutz.

The Kirnbauer family approach of nature-integrated wine production is the sustainability philosophy. Organic, bio-dynamic etc. only describes a small piece of the whole process; plant protection. Kirnbauer is focused on the complete range of resource management - Carbon footprint, water footprint, energy saving (heating with wood from the own forest, LED-lighting, photo-voltaic for energy generation for complete air & tank conditioning, buildings isolation etc.), no herbicides, no insecticides (sexual confusion method), and no irrigation.

Vigne del Malina

The vineyards “Vigne del Malina” are cultivated where two streams, the Malina and the Ellero - certainly not by chance - drew the shape of a wine glass. An alluvial soil whose unique characteristics and particular microclimate are ideal for small quantities of superior quality grapes. The right place to produce wine, the way we like. The world of wine is made of history, tradition and culture. Each bottle is a precious message that we send to true friends all over the world.

Domus-Picta

Domus-picta may be a child of today, but its roots go way back to 1848, when Nonno Oni Spagnol discovered his passion for wine, love for Prosecco and the joy of vine growing, a passion handed-down to successive generations. They are located in the province of Treviso's hilly belt, 50 km from Venice, between the towns of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene at an equal distance from both the Dolomites and the Adriatic Sea, a perfect combination that has a positive influence on the climate.

Viamora

The Viamora Winemakers take full advantage of the “delle Venezie” designation by marrying the best fruit from the appellation’s three permitted regions to yield a Pinot Grigio with an unusually expressive flavor profile. The Production area includes a wide surface on the plain of Friuli, Venezia and Giulia. In this land, the nature of the soil and the particularly mild climate have contributed to create the best conditions for the vine growth. Veneto fruit provides the delicate floral notes and the classic almond finish so typical of this region.

Vicara

The Monferrato has for decades been the cradle of Vicara, its vineyards, its designs.

Every Vicara bottle is the fruit of a union between its strong local roots and a “tailored” method which governs each phase of the production process, from vineyard planting to ageing, inspired by three fundamental, inseparable elements: tradition, innovation and people.

Vicara’s plots of land occupy a total surface area of 70 hectares (40 of which under vine) on the beautiful hills rising between the River Po and the plain of Alessandria.

Spontaneous ground cover is maintained in the vineyards in order to ensure the grapes ripen more evenly and are healthier, and as environmental protection since the need to work or treat the ground is drastically reduced. Pest control is carried out in accordance with natural strategies allowed under integrated pest management rules and eco-compatible farming, a sector in which Vicara has years of experience.

G. Manzone

In 1925 Manzone Giovanni purchased “Ciabot del Preve” (the Parish Priest house) and he started the winemaking in Monforte d’Alba. During the years the Manzone family purchased important vineyards on the historic hill of “CASTELLETTO” and “GRAMOLERE”, two of the best crus in Monforte d’Alba. In the last years Mauro (2005) and Mirella Manzone (2012) joined their father Giovanni in the management of the winery. Mauro and Mirella are graduated from the famed Oenology School of Alba. We cultivate our vineyards following healthy and sustainable viticultural principles. Natural grass is left between the rows of vines, mowed and left on the ground to form humus. All the wines are unclarified and unfiltered, and added in minimal amounts of SO<sub>2</sub>.

Morra

The story of the Morra family has been closely interwoven with the land for almost a century. In the 1920s, the head of the family, Stefano, added vine growing to the traditional activities of fruit cultivation (Castellinaldo was famed for its excellent peaches) and livestock farming. After the Second World War, his son Antonio stepped up grape production, and the small winery in the centre of the village began turning out demijohns of wine (Barbera, Dolcetto, Nebbiolo and an unusual dry Brachetto). In the middle of the 1980s, Antonio’s son, Stefanino, began bottling some of the wine.

The first Arneis was labelled in 1990, and the following year the whole enterprise was moved to a new building just outside the village. Stefanino, with the help of his wife Edda and brother-in-law Gianni Olivero, extended the area under vine and the range of wines, with a focus on the highest quality. In 2006 the inauguration of the brand-new tasting room marked the opening of the winery’s doors to a growing number of connoisseurs. Now the next generation, represented by young Luca and Erica, is becoming more involved, guaranteeing continuity for the family’s long story.

Cantina del Giusto

The Cantina Del Giusto is a small size farm situated near the foot of Montepulciano in the area of Acquaviva; it is managed by the family Del Giusto, by their three generations of winegrowers and oil producers in the territory of Montepulciano, who themselves look after the production and marketing. Founded in 1995 by the experience of Piero Del Giusto that after a lot of years spent in wine sector decides to open a farm with own name and with buildings and lands left by the old father. In 1999 was built the cellar for wines ageing and in 2005 was built the new cellar utilized for winemaking.

The wines of the Cantina Del Giusto are obtained exclusively from grapes that come from their own vineyards; thanks to the limited production it is possible to concentrate on the quality without the need of force, as tradition desires, with the complete respect of nature and the environment.

It is thus that our wines born, fine and exceptional wines that succeed in being “innovators” thanks to the modern technology and new enological practices but at the same time “traditionalists” thanks to the centenary knowledge of agriculture and wine-making.

The rest of the vineyards are located in the Cuzcurrita surroundings. This is the most western area of the Rioja Alta region and is therefore under the influence of a continental climate, with hot summers and very cold winters.

Compared with other areas of La Rioja, Cuzcurrita's difficult climate conditions can complicate the cultivation of the vines. However, these distinctive conditions also favour the unique tipicity of its wines, ensuring a greater expression of the land where they grow.

El Jefe

Castilla y León, situated in the northern half of the central Iberian Plateau and is the largest of Spain's 17 administrative regions. The mighty river Duero flows directly through the region before it flows across the border to Portugal where the home of Port is based. Castilla y León sits on a vast plateau which is between 2300ft and 3300ft (700m – 1000m) above sea-level and where the weather provides hot, dry summers followed by sharp, cold winters, when temperatures regularly drop well below freezing.

Red wines rule in Castilla y León, and of the red-wine grapes, Tempranillo (known here by various synonyms including Tinta del Pais, Tinto de Toro and Tinto Fino) is unquestionably the king. It is the grape behind all of the region's finest wines except Bierzo, which is from the Mencia grape. Castilla y León's white wines – far fewer in number than the reds, but only marginally less prestigious – are made mostly from Verdejo and Viura.

De Iuliis

The Lovedale Road region of the Hunter Valley is renowned for producing world class wines. In 1987 we chose our property because of its potential to continue the tradition of producing outstanding wines. After three years of soil preparation the first vines were planted in 1990. We now are starting to see the rewards of such careful planing and preparation. Semillon and Shiraz are grape varieties traditionally planted within the Hunter Valley. These varietal wines have achieved worldwide recognition for their superb qualities. The De Iuliis Semillon and Shiraz are produced using the traditional winemaking techniques, to maintain maximum varietal characteristics.

Pressing Matters

Greg Melick simultaneously wears more hats than most people manage in a lifetime. He is a top-level barrister (Senior Counsel), a Major General (the highest rank in the Australian Army Reserve) and has presided over a number of headline special commissions and enquiries into subjects as diverse as cricket match-fixing allegations against Mark Waugh and others, to the Beaconsfield mine collapse. Yet, if asked, he would probably nominate wine as his major focus in life.

Greg wasn't sure which was worse: his Mum finding out that as a young lad he'd gambled and won at Werribee race course or – that he'd subsequently spent his winnings on wine..... and so began Greg's love affair with wine. In 2002 Greg finally found the ideal site which consisted of approximately 14 hectares of grazing land on well-drained north east facing slopes, with cracking clay over a calciferous base. The site was also frost free. Planting riesling (2.9ha) at his vineyard on Middle Tea Tree Road in the Coal River Valley. It is a perfect north-facing slope, the Mosel-style Rieslings sweeping all before them.

Regarded as not just the top rated Rieslings in Tasmania but all of Australia and deserves world class recognition. The names of the wines signify the relative residual sugars.

Eldridge Estate

Eldridge Estate is a 3 hectares property on Red Hill in Mornington Peninsula. The soil is a rich terra rosa volcanic loam on a north facing slope that drops 45 metres from the top. It is protected from harsh winds by natural land forms which result in a long, cool, ripening period. The soils are volcanic loam from the Ordovician era, ie about 200 Million years before present time. This means that the combination of ancient landforms and soil have combined to produce a truly unique set of conditions that make our vineyard special. The vines have been trained into what is known as the Scott Henry system of canopy management to provide the best possible flavor development at this unique site.

Pfeiffer Estate

Mellowed with age and shaded by huge pine trees, with a pattern of interesting planes and angles in its galvanised iron roof, Pfeiffer’s winery sits on a high embankment above a sweeping bend in the Sunday Creek near Wahgunyah. This romantic place has been the scene of human follies, tragedy and traditional winemaking. In modern times it represents a re-affirmation of faith in Rutherglen’s wine industry by two people, willing to stake their own future in the district they love.

Muscadelle grapes are always harvested at the end of the season, ensuring high sugar levels for the production of Topaque wines. Fermentation is commenced on skins (only about 1% alc/vol) before the grapes are pressed into stainless steel tanks and fortified using a neutral grape spirit, leaving a sweet wine of around 17.5% alc/vol. After fortification, the Topaque wines are clarified, then transferred into barrels and casks of different volumes for several years (anything between three and thirty). It is this maturation process that concentrates the wines and produces the rich, complex flavours.

Collier Falls

Collier Falls is a family-owned vineyard and winery in Healdsburg, California’s beautiful Dry Creek Valley. We make limited quantities of hillside estate red wines from our own sustainably-farmed vineyards in Sonoma County. 20 acres in the northwest corner of Dry Creek Valley at elevations exceeding 1,000 feet. These steep vineyards of rocky, clay soil produce mountain fruit with great color, character and intensity. Exactly what winemakers love to craft distinctive, hillside estate wines. Our vineyards also sit above the fog line. So while morning fog cools the valley floor, our hillside fruit enjoys plenty of sunshine. And during the warmer parts of the day, these southeast facing vineyards get early shade, creating an ideal temperature balance for our grapes

Domaine De Joy

The story began in 1927, when Paul Gessler decided to leave his native Switzerland to settle in Gascony, in the Gers region, depopulated area farmers after the first World War. At this time, the farm cultivated cereals, vines and bred cattle. Very soon, Paul understood that, the land and exposure of the slopes, were favourable to the quality production of wines and Armagnac. The first distillation took place in 1929.

In 1946, André GESSLER, Paul's son and his wife Véronique, settled on the farm and expanded the vineyard to 20 hectares. André, a pioneer in the region, worked on the selection of grapes varieties (including Colombard and Gros Manseng) and participated in the creation of a group of vinegrowers in order to improve the wine quality.

In 1975, Roland, and in 1980, Olivier, Andre's sons, settled in the estate. They abandoned cereals crops in order to specialize in viticulture. Year after year, the vineyard grew and the development of the sales of bottled wine increased.

The 4th generation is running ... Vanessa and Kévin Gessler , Olivier's children, and Gael Gessler, Roland's son, settled on the estate in 2014 and 2015 !
