

Coverage options

Bodily injury

Pays for another person's medical and related costs for an accident that you caused. This can include:

- Hospital and medical bills
- Rehab
- Funeral expenses

This coverage is required by states to satisfy financial responsibility laws.

Physical damage

Protects your vehicles from financial losses due to damage, including:

- Collision coverage: damage from auto accidents regardless of who is at fault
- Comprehensive coverage: damage from weather, theft, and non-collision causes

This coverage is often required for vehicles that are financed or leased.

Medical payments

Pays for medical and related injury expenses for you and any passengers involved in an accident in your vehicle.

Property damage

Pays for damage you've caused to another person's property up to a certain amount.

This coverage is required by states to satisfy financial responsibility laws.

Roadside assistance

Provides help if your vehicle has stopped running due to non-accident related events.

This coverage provides reimbursement only.

Rental reimbursement

Pays for the cost of a rental car while your vehicle is in the repair shop due to an accident.

Uninsured/underinsured motorist

Pays for injuries to you or any passengers if the person responsible for the accident doesn't have insurance or doesn't have enough insurance to pay for the injuries.
