Introduction

We're Growing Good...

For over three decades Ohio Farm Bureau Foundation has been committed to driving community change, stimulating new ideas, and engaging audiences in a conversation around sustainable agriculture.

We know that it takes a collaborative approach to growing a vibrant farm and food community. That's why we're building unique partnerships by investing in local programs committed to addressing Ohio's agricultural challenges. To date more than $2.1 million has been granted to projects that focus on agricultural education, environment, and economic issues.

We strive to support the next generation of agriculture producers, scientists, and business and community leaders. By providing scholarships and professional development opportunities, we're supporting leaders breaking new ground in food and agriculture.

It's a Win—Win

Join us in growing good! As a sponsor you are a critical partner in making our programs a success. Your support helps to deliver local programs and scholarships while connecting with the agricultural community and building awareness for your brand.

Investing in Ohio Farm Bureau Foundation makes sense. Your sponsorship includes targeted marketing and visibility opportunities for your business, internally reaching more than 122,000+ households across the state of Ohio.
