HONOR WEEK

Family Activity Pack

Why this special day?

We can't overvalue the impact of educating the next generation. From a young age I was taught to love America. I was shown examples of selfless service and sacrifice. I was given great men and women to look up to and admire.

I fully recognized that these men and women had faults - but it was their faults that made them human...just like me. If they could do it, so could I.

This packet is perfect for kids between the ages of 4-10. It will give them some activities that will create conversations. Seize the opportunity to teach them and inspire them. Share stories of their ancestors. Highlight the impact that selfless service has on their lives and invite them to show gratitude for those who give and have given so much to make America a great place to live, work and play.

Thank you for your participation in Honor Week. For more information, please visit honorweek.com

Flag of the United States

The picture below shows the United States' flag.

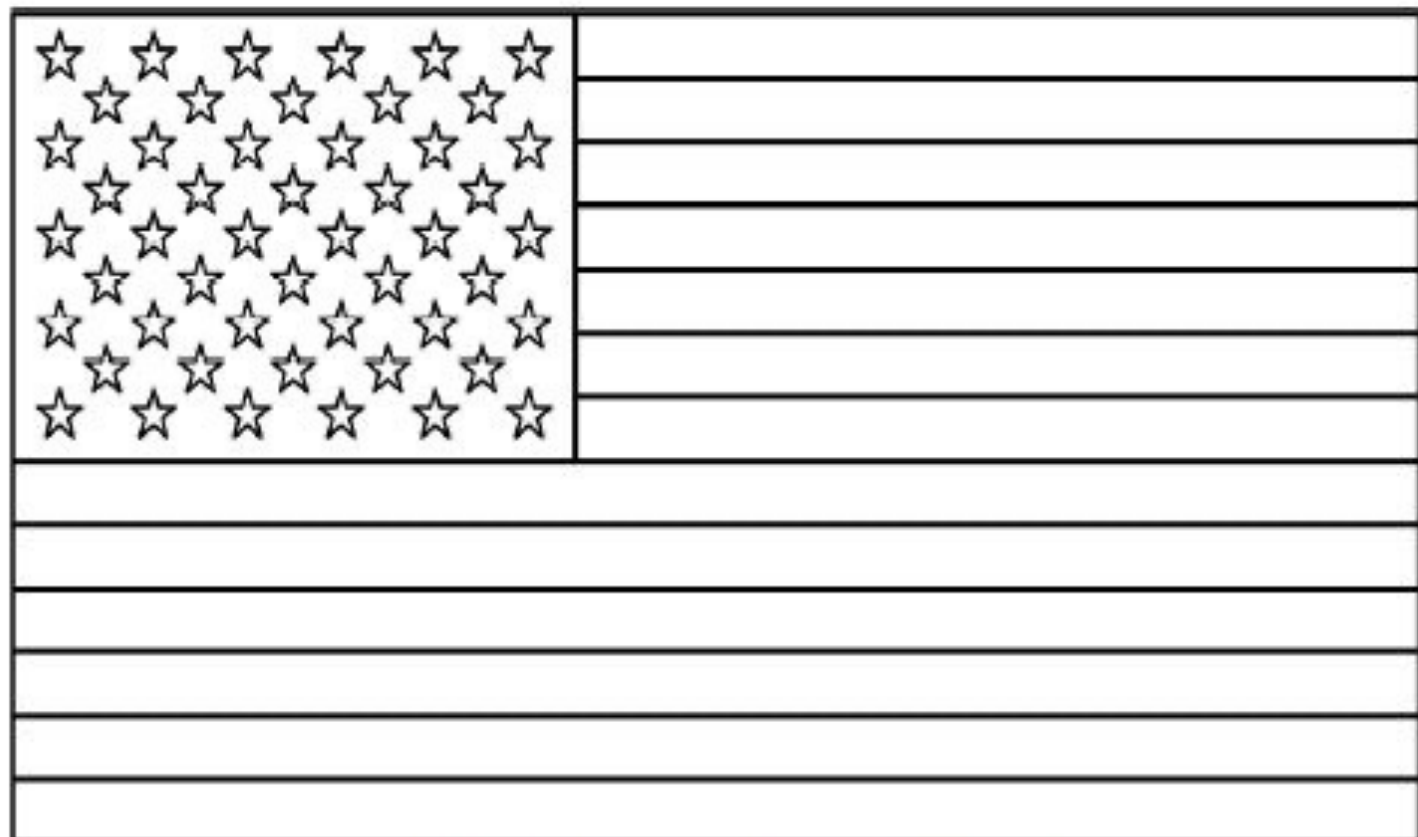

The flag's colors are red, white, and blue.

- Red is a symbol for valor, or bravery.
- Blue is a symbol for vigilance and justice.
- White is a symbol for purity and innocence.

There are fifty white stars against a blue background. Each star represents one of the fifty states in our country. Whenever a new state is added to our country, a new star is added to the flag.

There are 13 red and white stripes on the American flag. The top and bottom stripes are red. The 13 stripes represent the original 13 colonies that became states when our country was started.

Color the flag below. Be sure you use the correct colors in the correct areas.

It must be sung together.”
