Weather Update December 2, 2019

The first storm of the season has brought significant snow accumulations throughout parts of the Northeast last night and will continue throughout today.

Our Concord, NH Service Center will be closed today. Albany, Newburgh and Westfield Service Centers will be running reduced operations. Service centers from Syracuse east will have full operations however weather will impact service in those areas. The remainder of our service centers will be operational today.

Please check our website throughout the day for updates as there may be additional changes to our operations.

As a reminder, Pyle Protect from Freeze services are available any day of the week, on any shipment until April 15 regardless of the temperature.

If you have any questions about your shipments, they can be tracked in real-time on our website www.aduiepyle.com utilizing the Pro Tracking box.
