Subject: Shelter in Place Orders- PA, IL, OH, and MO/ Update on Dayton Freight

Good Morning!

I hope you had a nice relaxing weekend.

First and foremost, Dayton Freight is open and operating!

However, I wanted to reach out and let you know about an item that will affect our operation moving into this week and weeks to come. As I'm sure you heard by now the states of Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, and parts of Missouri have announced a "shelter in place" order. Any business deemed Non-Essential by the government of that state will be closed for an interim period of time. This means deliveries to some of your customers may be effected.

With that being said, our goal is keep the supply chain moving and to assist you with all your shipping needs. In order to do this, we ask that you honor the following:

- Please call the consignee before scheduling a shipment with us to make sure they are open. This is very important and will help operations continue to run smoothly.
- If we cannot deliver due to the consignee being closed, we will have to return your shipment and a charge will occur.
- Due to our capacity limitations, we cannot store freight until the ban is lifted. It's very important that the shipper is aware of this restraint.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know!
