Olsen Custom Homes is an award-winning builder with supreme values and a long-standing history of crafting homes of the highest quality. Founders Eric and Shelly Olsen established their business on the solid premise of "building integrity with every home." An Olsen home is said to stand the test of time when it comes to construction methods and design excellence, which is what the Olsen name has come to mean when it comes to crafting high-end homes. According to the Olsens, "From the start, we set our sights on building quality homes that we are proud to have our name associated with."

As an award-winning builder, Olsen Custom Homes is recognized amongst the finest in Palm Coast with their houses showcased in many of the area's preferred communities. They hand select the craftsmen that represent their company and only work with industry experts when it comes to building technologically innovative homes of distinction. Their premier home designs incorporate a Mediterranean style that blends with an owner's personal preferences and enhances the communities in which they build. A custom home designed and constructed with the Olsen name is one of quality, class and beauty.
